HOTEL HERMITS.

Men Who Find Solitude In the Very Centers of Civilization.

One of the most interesting studies in human nature about this city is the man who lives in hotels. I do not mean the commercial traveler or the man who is engaged in business of any kind, but the man who has nothing to do but to loaf around him and enjoy himself. He may actually enjoy himself, too, for all I know. I hope he does. He is interesting as an illustration of what some men call enjoyment.

The fashionable hotels of New York and unfashionable hotels of that matter are the shelter of many men who are not in business other than the business of looking pretty and observing the rest of the world move. I do not say they are the home of such men—they merely shelter and feed them.

In many instances this life is that of a hermit. Possibly a man accustomed to the wild, hilarious career offered by a country hotel may cavil at the expression in this connection, but it is because such a man does not understand city ways. A year or two ago a well-to-do gentleman died in a New York hotel. He had lived in the hotel for years, and he was not a soul—if I may use the word—speaking of a hotel corporation—was he personally or anything about him beyond the fact that he paid his bills promptly and regularly. He chose to make no acquaintances and was satisfied to appear to the hotel managers as "No. 61, K." or by whatever number his room was designated. The hotel management had changed several times, but he lived on there, a calm, untroubled existence.

As a guest such a man is a jewel, and as many reasonably be supposed he was not likely to be harassed by unnecessary attentions. When he died it was found that he was a gentleman of independent fortune—the newspapers, of course, making the discovery—some people marveled for a day or two and then forgot him. I recall the incident now only to illustrate that in a great city like this what appears to be the most public life may be in reality the most exclusive. There are plenty of men living hermit lives in New York hotels—as much so as if they occupied a poor hovel in the solitary fastnesses of the wilderness.

I know men who reside at swell hotels who do not seek to avoid their fellows, but who might as well be confined in the penitentiary or be dead, so far as their usefulness to society is concerned. They remind me of convicts—so apparently listless, aimless and inert their existence. They eat, drink and sleep. Life holds no more inviting cup for them than that offered by the hotel corridor. They have exhausted what men call pleasure or are beyond the age of physical enjoyment, with no reserve capacity for mental pleasure. To a man of some temperaments such a life would be a living death.—New York Cor. Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Negro Woman's Wonderful Hair.

Hearing the statement made in Holly Springs that a remarkable negro woman freak lived only a few miles from this town, your correspondent determined to obtain the facts in the case.

A middle-aged negro greeted the visitor. The woman is quite dark, of a pronounced African type of physiognomy, 5 feet 8 inches tall, and in fair health, but has never had any hair. She wears a white cotton turban tied about her head and tucked in at the back to support the immense weight of her hair. This she removed and laid upon the table and unwound the braids of her wonderful hair, which went many times around her head and dropped upon the floor.

It was indeed an amazing sight. Three braids almost as thick as a man's arm close to the head, but tapering to the thickness of a finger at the ends, closely plaited and measuring 8 feet 6 inches, braided as it is, in length. It looks a good deal like Spanish moss, but is dark, or, crinkled and grizzled, coarse and almost repulsive to the touch, suggesting ghastly stories of the abnormal growth of hair after death.—Mississippi Cor. New Orleans Times-Democrat.

These Hereditary Interlopers.

I have always held that the very existence of a house of hereditary legislators is an intolerable abuse, and consequently that the country has a right to make use of every constitutional form to hinder the lords from interference with the popular will. Who represent the popular will? Assuredly its representatives. If, then, the elected representatives of the nation decide in favor of home rule, the lords are guilty of an act of high treason to the people if they interpose their veto. What can be more ridiculous than that a few hundred men—some hereditary legislators, some legislators because they have made huge fortunes by selling their vote or by some similar avocation—should pretend to know better than the nation what the nation wants?

The true method to proceed with such obstructionists is, if they throw out the home rule bill to bring it in again in an autumn session and tack it on to the appropriation bill. If this be done home rule will become the law of the land before the end of this year. If it be not done, I really do not know when it will become law. I am sick of half measures with these hereditary interlopers.—London Truth.

A Lad Who Would Murder For Fun.

A lad employed as a pony driver at the Trowel Moor colliery at Stapleford has been sentenced to six weeks' hard labor for willfully damaging an engine wire rope used for the purpose of bringing tubs of coal up an incline. The strands of the rope were found to be deliberately cut in two places, and it was stated that if the rope had parted the consequence would probably have been a disastrous loss of life. As it was the entire work of the colliery had to be suspended for three-quarters of a day, and it appeared that to bring about this temporary cessation of work was the sole motive of this abominable act. John Botham, in brief, wanted a holiday, and this was his mode of attaining that object.—London News.

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

The St. Louis Republic, which is an able and persistent advocate of the silver cause, contends that the mere repeal of the Sherman act cannot give relief to the business. If the currency is to be kept on a gold basis, and silver is not paid out on treasury certificates, nor on greenbacks, the pressure on the treasury can be renewed at any time it is the pleasure of half a dozen great capitalists in New York and London. The power this policy gives a few men is enormous, as by controlling a comparatively small part of a small gold supply they can create a stringency in a nation of 65,000,000 people, and force thousands of honorable and useful men to the edge of bankruptcy, if not over it. That is the insuperable objection to the gold basis.

The Republic argues that there is no safe currency except one which will regulate itself naturally and which cannot be suddenly expanded or contracted. The only way of securing such a currency is by the free coinage of both silver and gold without mint charge or discrimination against either metal. This is the currency demanded by the Democratic national platform and the Republic says: "This is the currency on which the Democratic party will insist, without abatement or compromise."

That the Republic is right as to the effect of the repeal of the Sherman law and of the power which the policy of keeping the currency on a gold basis gives a few large capitalists, there is no doubt. That the only way of securing a safe currency is by coining gold and silver on an equality is also true, though believers in fiat or irredeemable paper money may dispute it. That the national Democratic platform declares for such money is also a fact, but the assertion of the Republic that the Democratic party will insist on such currency, remains to be demonstrated. The administration elected on that platform does not abide by it. It discriminates against silver by not paying it out of the treasury for notes that are redeemable in silver, and it suspends the coinage of the metal in the United States, therefore its policy is not in accord with the national platform.

The Republic is aware that every Democratic leader in the east, with the possible exception of Senator Hill of New York, endorses the financial policy of the administration, and the white wings of the silver states, who expect to be rewarded with office for doing all in their power to give the electoral votes of those states to Harrison, will not say against it, lest it might lessen their chances of getting federal positions. It must be then, if the Republic's assertion is correct, the Democrats of the south and west, who are not seeking office, who will insist on the free coinage of silver and gold, without mint charge or discrimination against either metal. This insistence may result in the disruption of the Democratic party and in a new alignment of political parties in which the silver men will be arrayed in solid phalanx, on one side and the goldbugs of both old parties on the other. It is plainly apparent at the present time that the administration, as the exponent of Democratic principles, is not in accord with the Democratic party which the Republic says insists on the free coinage of both gold and silver, and it is also evident that Democratic leaders in the east, such as Senator McPherson of New Jersey, and Representatives Tracey of New York and Harter of Ohio, endorse the policy of the administration.

FROM DENVER TO SAN FRANCISCO

The State of Nevada offers a subsidy of $3,000 per mile for the construction of a railroad from the Utah to the California line, through the counties of White Pine, Eureka, Lander, Churchill and Washoe, and granted a charter to the Utah and Nevada Air Line company to build the road. San Francisco which has been clamoring for a competitive railroad from that city to the east took a lively interest in the Nevada Air Line for a while, but failed to take an active part in constructing the road. Now the citizens of Denver, who are much more enterprising than those of San Francisco, are discussing a proposition to build a short line road from that city to the Pacific coast. The chamber of commerce is considering the project, and if it decides to give financial aid to the enterprise the road will doubtless be built. The News says it is of great importance to the Denver public and commends it to the earnest consideration of the business men of the city.

The proposition to build a short line road from Denver to the coast has, the News says, been floating in the minds of railroad men for some time. Denver is now abundantly able to inaugurate the enterprise. Salt Lake city is working enthusiastically on its Deep Creek road, which would form one section of the line, and the two cities could thus carry the enterprise to the Nevada border. Its completion would then be a certainty.

SECRETARY MORTON has been urging Secretary Carlisle to dispose of the silver bullion in the treasury for what it will bring. Those goldbug officials fancy that their province is to make new laws instead of executing those on the statute books. Secretary Carlisle has no authority to sell an ounce of government bullion, but he is authorized to coin it and redeem treasury notes and greenbacks with the coin. That, however, is what the goldbugs do not want him to do, and unfortunately he complies with their wishes, not with the law.

A LONE HIGHWAYMAN

Attempts to Rob a Stage and Kills Messenger Mike Tovey.

THE LIZZIE BORDEN TRIAL

Embezzler Flood Convicted.—Evans and Sontag.

By Associated Press

MIKE TOVEY KILLED

By a Lone Highwayman, Who Attempts to Rob a Stage.

JACKSON, Cal., June 15.—An attempt was made to rob the mail stage on the way from Ione to Jackson about 5 o'clock this evening by a lone highwayman at the foot of the Morrow grade, about four miles from here. The stage had four passengers inside, two ladies, and one on the outside besides the driver, Clint Radcliffe, and Wells, Fargo's guard Michael Tovey, who sat on the boot by the driver. The point selected for the crime was the identical spot where some five months ago the same guard, when walking ahead of the stage, found the way barricaded by a strand of barbed wire cut from along-side the road and stretched across the roadway. On the present occasion the robber was concealed behind the rocks on the right side of the road. He wore no mask except that his face was blackened.

The driver says no word to halt was given, but some of the passengers say they heard a call. When opposite the place of concealment without the least intimation of the bloody work about to be consummated, the discharge of a weapon was heard and Tovey instantly fell forward off his seat dead. Radcliffe grasped him by one hand as he was falling and guided him to the boot, thereby saving him from falling into the roadway. The ball struck Tovey behind the right shoulder and is supposed to have pierced his heart.

Six horses were attached to the stage and the crack of the rifle frightened them into a gallop. The robber, seeing that he was likely to be foiled in his design to capture the booty, fired again. This time the ball grazed Radcliffe's back, producing a slight flesh wound. Still the horses continued to run and the highwayman, now standing in full view of the road, fired twice again at the horses, wounding one each time. The stage was swept along by the impetus of the uninjured horses for two or three hundred yards, when the driver halted and turned the two injured animals loose and came on bringing the body of the murdered messenger into Jackson, reaching here about 7 o'clock. The robber made no effort to follow the stage to its halting place.

The double-barreled shotgun belonging to the messenger was kept on board, and this fact probably deterred the assassin from following up his scheme. Besides his firing was heard by several farmers working in a bay-field near by and they came running up to ascertain the cause.

The highwayman escaped into the thick brush on the south side of the road, making toward Sunny Creek. He is described as a short man about 5½ feet tall.

There was treasure on board the stage both for Amador city and Jackson. It is remembered that when wire was strung across the road on the previous occasion there was considerable coin on board bound for Amador city to pay off the employees of a mine there.

Tovey, the victim of the tragedy, is a single man between forty and fifty years of age. He has been a messenger for Wells, Fargo for twenty years. He has been wounded three times before by road agents. He has been a messenger on the Ione road for six years. There is much excitement over the affair. Sheriff Gregory and posse started at once in pursuit on hearing of the tragedy.

THE FLOOD CASE.

The Defendant is Found Guilty by a Jury.

Special to the JOURNAL.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 15.—The case of John W. Flood, ex-cashier of the Donahue-Kelly bank of San Francisco, which has been on trial in Judge Seawell's court, was submitted to the jury today. The defense offered no testimony, and the judge in charging the jury said they must be satisfied beyond reasonable doubt that defendant committed the crime for which he was indicted on or before April 4, 1893. It would not be conclusive proof of defendant's guilt that there was a shortage in the funds of the banking company. The evidence must show that the $164,000, which the defendant is accused of embezzling, or some part thereof was appropriated by defendant on or before April 4th. The jury must be satisfied that he, the defendant, and no other person had taken the money. The jury retired at 10:40 A. M. to deliberate upon a verdict, and in the afternoon found defendant guilty.

Flood, who has been at liberty on bail since his arrest some weeks ago, was ordered into the custody of the sheriff, and will be sentenced in a week.

THE LIZZIE BORDEN TRIAL.

The Prosecution Closes and the Defense Begins.

Special to the JOURNAL.]

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., June 15.—The tenth day of the Borden trial was opened with a big crowd.

The witnesses to-day were druggists who testified as to the use of prussic acid, which acid defendant said she purchased for the purpose of cleaning furs. After a number of druggists had been examined the commonwealth rested its case, which is considered very weak.

After a recess Mr. Jennings opened the case for the defense. He said they would show the previous spotless character of the prisoner and the absence of an intent, purpose or opportunity to murder her parents. The defense would also show that there were others about the house on the day of the murder, and that there were people in the barn and all over it before it was examined.

During the opening the prisoner sat with her face buried in her handkerchief, crying.

Martha Chagnon testified that about 11 o'clock the night preceding the murder she heard a noise like pounding on the Borden fence.

Chas. Gifford and Uriah Kirby both swore to having seen a strange man near the Borden residence at the same hour.

Mark Chase swore he saw a buggy standing in front of the Borden house at 11 o'clock the morning of the murder. In it was a man he had never seen before or since.

Dr. Handy testified that on the morning of the murder he saw in the neighborhood a medium sized young man, very pale and acting strangely.

Mrs. Hart testified to the same effect.

Walter P. Stevens swore he went into the barn the morning of the murder and heard people walking about in the upper part. This contradicts Officer Medley's testimony.

After some other testimony the jury retired while counsel argued the admissibility of the evidence of Joseph L. May, who found a man covered with blood near a brook on August 16th, who talked about the Borden murder. The question was reserved until morning, and the court adjourned.

A New Inquest Into the Ford Theatre Disaster.

Special to the JOURNAL.]

WASHINGTON, June 15.—A new inquest was started to-day in the Ford theatre disaster. The old jury was summoned and they with the coroner went to the cemetery and viewed the body of Fredrick Loftis.

James L. Parsons testified that he submitted a bid for the work but he failed to get the contract. When the witness examined the building in May he found no evidence of unsafe condition. The witness stated that the work could have been completed in safety had all the floors been shored up. The witness did not consider the work properly done.

Specifications for the work were read and at the close, "the contractor shall be liable for all damage done to the building," there was a murmur of disapproval.

Edward Clark, the capital architect, made an examination of the building in '65 and '68 and thought it safe, but would not have undertaken the work without shoring.

Thomas B. Entwistle, district building inspector, found the floor and walls perfectly safe five years ago, but considered the disaster due to no shoring. After recess two builders and bricklayers were examined. They all agreed that the collapse was caused by the unskillful character of the work. Captain Thorpe of the war department said he understood the preparation of the specifications was supervised by Colonel Ainsworth alone.

Miss Northrup has the sympathy of the entire community.

LAKE TAHOE.

Why a Dead Body Will Not Rise to the Surface in Its Waters.

The Truckee Republican asserts that a dead body sunk in Lake Tahoe will not rise to the surface. There has been much said on this question, some contending that it is not a fact and that dead fish have frequently been seen on the surface of the lake. The Republican, however, adheres to the belief that bodies sunk in the lake remain at the bottom, and has the following on the subject:

The fact that a dead body will not rise to the surface after it has sunk in Lake Tahoe has received considerable attention at different times. Many theories more or less scientific and reasonable have been advanced to account for the phenomenon. For instance it has been suggested that the waters of the lake being so cold preserve the body and prevent the formation of those gases which ordinarily would cause it to rise to the surface. By the formation of gases the body is distended, thus displacing an amount of water the weight of which is greater than the weight of the body. According to a well-known principle of physics the body will then rise. If these gases are not formed, the specific gravity of the body being greater than that of water, it will then be immersed. This would seem to necessitate the continued preservation of the body in a perfect state; but it is not improbable that it would be destroyed in time by the fish.

There is also another fact which helps out this theory. At great depth water has an enormous pressure. The bottom of Lake Tahoe has never been found in the central part of the lake. Bodies sinking to a depth of a hundred feet or more would be subjected to a pressure of several pounds to the square inch of its surface. This would doubtless be an important factor in the preservation of the body. Experiments have shown that an ordinary jug tightly corked and sunk to a great depth will be subjected to sufficient pressure to force the cork into the jug.

ESMERALDA NOTES.

The following notes of interest are taken from the Walker Lake Bulletin:

Eight tons of ore from the Pamlico, taken out by Thorne & George, and worked in the arastra, yielded $1,500.

Sheriff Stewart last Saturday made a raid on an opium den in Chinatown. The boss was arrested and sentenced to twenty-five days in the county jail.

Mrs. George Caravere has brought suit in the district court against her husband, George Caravere (alias Greek George) for divorce on the grounds of cruelty.

Mark Daly and Geo. D. Roberts have taken a bond on the Chinaman mine in White Pine. They paid $10,000 down, and agree to pay $500,000 more in thirty days if the mine suits them. D. H. Jackson is their superintendent.

Ed. Wood of Aurora was in town last week. He says that there is a likelihood of a renewal of work by the Esmeralda Con. company at an early day, and that Pfeiffer & Shultz are now putting up a five stamp mill in Del Monte canyon, on the site of the old Hearn arastra. This mill is for the purpose of working over the old dumps of Aurora, which are said to be worth $6 per ton. It is estimated that there are 10,000 tons of ore on these dumps which will pay to work.

No Military Encampment This Year.

Colonel F. C. Lord received a letter this morning from Adjutant General J. P. Poudjé, in which it was stated that Governor Colcord had decided not to call out the Nevada militia for encampment duty this year. The reasons for the Governor's action in the matter were not given. The news will no doubt be a disappointment to our soldier boys, as many had high hopes of enjoying a week's bivouac on the tented field this summer.—Virginia Chronicle.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

OF INTEREST TO STOCKMEN AND FARMERS.

The World's Congress Auxiliary of the Columbian Exposition.

Hon. W. S. Bailey, the well known cattleman and farmer, has been appointed a member of the Advisory Council on Farm Culture and General Industry of the World's Agricultural Congresses to convene in Chicago during the week commencing October 10, 1893, and is in receipt of his commission, duly signed by the Committee on Farm Culture and Cereal Industry, and Charles C. Borne, president and Clarence E. Young, secretary of World's Congress Auxiliary.

A letter accompanying the commission of Mr. Bailey informs him that the Chief of the Agricultural Department has set aside room for the Auxiliary headquarters in the Live Stock Pavilion at the World's Fair. Mr. Bailey is authorized to introduce by letter all the farmers from Nevada who may attend the Exposition. The chairman or his assistants will introduce those farmers to others and in that way information will be received and given, the value of which could not be estimated. A series of daily talks will be arranged for the summer in Assembly Hall. The congresses in October will be held in the Permanent Memorial Art Palace.

Mr. Bailey is requested to make it known that he is a representative of the World's Auxiliary Congress and that application for letters of introduction should be addressed to him at the earliest possible date. Farmers and others from Nevada contemplating a visit to the World's Fair should therefore communicate with Mr. Bailey, as a letter of introduction from him will insure them attention and privileges at the great fair which they would not otherwise receive.

Bishop Edward G. Andrews.

Bishop Edward G. Andrews is one of the bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and will (D. V.) preside at the next annual session of the Nevada Mission to be held at Truckee, Cal., August 21st, next. He will also preside at the California Conference, California Gorman Conference, New Mexico English and New Mexico Spanish Missions and the Southern California Conference later.

Bishop Andrews comes of good lineage. On his mother's side he comes from the sturdy stock of which the Friends are composed. His father was a cotton manufacturer of Utica and Troy, N. Y. His uncle has been chief justice of Michigan. One of his brothers has long been a judge of the Court of Appeals in New York. He is one of a family of ten children—five boys and five girls. Like nearly all of the prominent men of the church, ministerial and lay, he was converted when very young, and became a member of the church at ten years of age. He began his ministerial career in the Central New York Conference. In 1864 he became teacher at Ozenovia and in 1866 he was made principal. From this time until 1874, when he re-entered the pastorate, he was engaged in educational work, particularly at the Oneida Conference Seminary. In 1872 he was elected bishop. The honor thus conferred upon him is more striking from the fact that for thirty years he was the only man chosen from the pastorate into episcopacy. The wisdom of such election has been fully justified by the brotherly, impartial and able manner in which he fulfills his office as bishop. He will be welcomed by the members of the Nevada Mission.—J. H. N. W. in Silver State.

La Grippe.

During the prevalence of the grippé the past seasons it was a noticeable fact that those who depended upon Dr. King's New Discovery, not only had a speedy recovery, but escaped all of the troublesome after effects of the malady. This remedy seems to have a peculiar power in affecting rapid cures of La Grippe, but in all diseases of the Throat, Chest and Lungs, and has cured cases of Asthma and Hay Fever of long standing. Try it and be convinced. It won't disappoint. Free Trial Bottles at S. J. Hodgkinson's drug store.

The Pioche Record says: Nevadans who are going to the world's fair should register as coming from Kansas if they want to have enough money left to get home on. When a landlady finds "Nevada" opposite the guest's name, he immediately takes him for a bonanza king and charges him accordingly.

Hair cutting 25 cents at Coleman's.

BREVITIES.

Burke Brothers commenced work on the foundation of the new two-story brick which is to be erected by the Reno Real Estate and Investment company on Virginia street, north of the Pawning building. The plans indicate that the building will have the handsome front in the state of Nevada.

Billy Simpson, who is known along the Central Pacific Railroad from Reno to Utah, was sent to jail yesterday for sixty days by Justice Linn for disturbing the peace. Billy is an industrious little fellow, but unfortunately for him, if he once gets a taste of liquor he will keep drunk so long as he can get whisky and he invariably gets into trouble if not into jail, when on his periodical spree.

The Silver State says: It will be remembered that in the late Rocklin fire a young lady by the name of Miss Alice Irish was burned to death in the Davis hotel. It was thought that she could not make her escape out of the burning building, but it has since been ascertained that she was locked in her room and the hotel set fire to by a waiter whose attentions she had disregarded.

BOARD OF SCHOOL TRUSTEES.

They Select Teachers for the ensuing Year.

The board of school trustees held their regular meeting last evening. Present members Wm. Pluniger, president; S. M. Jamison, Secretary, and Wm. Webster. The following teachers were elected for the ensuing year.

Mrs. M. S. Doten, Miss L. C. Hall, Miss F. E. Short, Mrs. L. C. Booth, Miss Flora Northrup, Miss M. E. McIntosh, Miss M. Rullison, Miss H. E. Joy, Miss Echo L. Loder, Miss Mary J. Snow, Miss Lizzie Unruh, Miss Arda Van Duzer and Miss Hannah Linehan.

The above are all re-elections with the exception of Miss Linehan, who was elected to the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Lou Craighead. This speaks well for the ability and zeal of the present corps of teachers, as the board in re-electing them must have considered that they were doing satisfactory work, which is the opinion of the public in general.

The board transacted other business in the way of allowing bills, etc., and adjourned to meet again in one week.

WEDDING BELLS.

Professor Thurtell and Miss Persia Bishop Married.

Another bachelor has become a benedict. Professor H. Thurtell of the Nevada State University and Miss Persia Bishop, daughter of Dr. S. Bishop, so well known in Reno, were married in San Francisco last Saturday, June 11th, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wells Drury, 101 Grove street. Only the immediate members of the family, including the bride's parents, were present. The bride and groom, after a visit to Monterey, left for the eastern states by the Atlantic & Pacific route. They will visit all the principle cities of the country, including the white city at Chicago's world's fair, and will return in August to Reno, where they will permanently reside. Their many friends join in wishing them a long life of prosperity and happiness.

Lundy Locals.

The following locals are taken from the last issue of the Lundy Index:

If silver is not remonetized look out for a commercial earthquake.

Candelaria is so dead that decomposition has set in, all because silver is so low.

If silver was worth one dollar per ounce, 500,000 miners would be employed within three months.

If an enterprising man makes an effort to improve his business he is accused of "trying to hog it all."

One hundred thousand dollars judiciously expended in Homer district would make it a booming mining center.

If the projected railroad from Mojave to Bishop is completed, it will be continued into Mono county, when we will have a chance to see what our people are made of. The country is good enough but the folks are slow.

Two of our leading citizens had a quarrel last week about the ownership of a manure pile. One claimed it as personal property; the other claimed it as real estate. "Go and smother yourself," said the former. "How can a mule eat personal property and produce real estate?"

EVANS AND SOUTER.

[By Associated Press.]

VINALLA, June 15.—Soutar has internal hemorrhage. Physicians examined him this morning with the object of tapping him for the discharge of the blood. It was decided he was too weak for the operation.

When Evans was arrested a warrant was served on him by the Tulare sheriff for the murder of Oscar Beaver. Afterwards Sheriff Scott served three warrants on him. Sheriff Kay claims the prisoner and will try to hold him. Deputy Sheriff Rapelje of Fresno is here. He is supposed to be after Evans, but can get him only after a contest.

THE "TWENTY QUESTIONS" GAME

An interesting and profitable Roomful of Among the most small companies is Questions," a great English, although not a here.

The requisites for "Twenty Questions"
are, first, two rooms, that the company may be divided into two sides. The division of the guests may be done by their selecting one of two colors in balls, balls or ribbons, or by the choosing of sides
after the old-fashioned spelling school style. The hostess must see to it that there be an even division of the objects, and exactly the same number as there are guests, in order to prevent the leaving out of a friend or other awkward mistakes. Two leaders or spokesmen should be chosen, the host being naturally one of them, and it will also save further mishaps if the second leader be previously selected and given the idea of the game.

The sides being selected either by drawing of ribbons or by choice of the leaders—a method which has its awkward side where there are people sensitive to being the last chosen in a company—each side retires to its own room and selects an object which its opponents are to discover by the asking of 20 questions, or as many less than that number as may be. A scribe is chosen for each side to keep a record of the questions and answers by numbers, that no confusion may arise from misunderstood questions or replies. To this end each scribe should keep tally on two sheets of paper—the questions of his own side with the respective answers on one, and the opponents' questions and the replies of his own side on the other.

The object selected may be mammoth, animate, ancient, modern or historical,
may exist in fact or fiction, the only qualification being that it shall be sufficiently well known so that a majority of the players on the other side may be supposed to have seen or read about it.
A spirit of fairness should of course be shown in the selection of objects, and in each case the answers should be honest and not haphazard, although giving as little information as possible. Such objects as Ben Franklin's leaf of bread, which he carried under his arm as he walked up Market street in Philadelphia,
the metal cap of the Washington monument, the last railroad on a level railroad, the armor of the Black Prince in the Tower of London and Rip Van Winkle's gun will illustrate the wide range of choice in objects permissible. After each side announces the choice of its subject through its leader by knocking on the door, hostesses begin.

Each side deliberates on the questions to be given the other and its own replies with closed doors, each guest contributing informally his ideas of wording the replies and questions and his guesses
as to the enemy's object. But communication with the opposing side must be conducted wholly through the leaders, the other people being silent when the doors are open. And the leaders must not make answers or put questions without first consulting their respective sides.
The doors should never be opened without a warning knock. Any question is allowed, the first one being generally

A Remarkable Success.

Some years ago a melodrama was being performed in a country theater, the chief actor in which had made himself, from his haughty and overbearing conduct, disliked by all. In the last scene he was supposed to visit the tomb of his ancestors. In the center of the stage upon a marble pedestal stood the statue of his father. A heavy fold of drapery covered the figure. Enter Albert, who thus addressed the statue:

"I am here once again to gaze upon those features which in life so often looked on me with tenderest affection.
Father, thy mourning son now comes to pay thee adoration. Let me remove the veil which from the vulgar gaze shields
the beloved image of a once dear parent!"

Off went the drapery and, behold! the father stood upon his head! The effect cannot be described. It was electric.
The shouts of laughter which followed the mistake of the super effectually put an end to the scene, which changed to the next as quickly as possible, amid the jeers of the audience, the anger of the manager and the uncontrollable rage of the actor.—London Tit-Bits.

General Grant's Well Meant Politeness.

The story is told of General Grant that while engaged in an animated argument with Mrs. John A. Logan on one occasion he opened his cigar case and offered her a cigar and took one himself.
He lit his own and proceeded with the discussion. Mrs. Logan quietly accepted one, too, but secreted it without attracting attention. She now preserves that cigar as a souvenir.—Springfield Republi-

Appomattox Anniversary.

Sunday, April 9, was the anniversary of the surrender of Lee at Appomattox.
Twenty-eight years have elapsed since the fall of the confederacy and the end of the civil war. During that short time the bitterness of that past between the sections has died out, and the reminence of the anniversary saw the nation reunited whole, the grandest government and the best country on the face of the globe.

Immediately after Appomattox, the south accepted the situation and went to work with a will to retrieve her lost fortunes, in which she has been remarkably successful. As an example of the efficacy of intelligent industry, the growth of the south during the last 28 years is without a parallel.—Savannah News.

Root and Branch.

The poison in your blood, however it may have come or whatever shape it may be taking, is cleared away by Dr.
Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's a remedy that rouses every organ into healthful activity, purifies and enriches the blood, and through it cleanses and invigorates the whole system. Salt-Rheum, Tetter, Erysipelas, Eczema, Boils, Carbuncles, Enlarged Glands, and the worst Scrofulous sores and swellings, are perfectly and permanent-cured by it.

Unlike the ordinary Spring medicine and Sarsaparilla, the "Discovery" works equally well at all seasons. All the year around and in all cases, it is guaranteed, as no other blood medicine is.
If it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back, you pay only for the good you get.
Isn't it safer to say that no other blood-purifier can be "just as good?"
If it were, wouldn't it be sold so?
